

free your board to focus on your mission

- ✓ productive meetings
- ✓ effective committee work
- ✓ informed decisions

Managing a board of directors is one of the biggest challenges and opportunities for the country's 1.5 million nonprofits. E-governance eases the burdens of board administration and increases opportunities to achieve mission goals.

E-governance is Good Governance

BoardEffect® is a comprehensive web-based e-governance tool that helps nonprofits communicate efficiently with their boards, streamline board information management, and decrease risk.

Integrate E-governance with Your Current Processes

BoardEffect® promotes best practices. Not only is it possible to integrate online work seamlessly with your current workflow, but doing so will assist your efforts to enhance your board's productivity and effectiveness.

- > Use the "Committee Workroom" to promote efficient and effective committee work by offering a private space for communication and document sharing.
- > Provide new (and current) directors a comprehensive, accurate picture of your organization with a self-paced walkthrough of your virtual board manual.
- > Give directors a broad view of organizational history with a centralized library of past decisions and policies.

Secure Board Information Management

Nonprofits are already using technology to facilitate governance. But sending minutes, financial reports, and other sensitive information by email is not secure – it invites risk.

Hosted in an SAS 70 Type II and Safe Harbor certified managed hosting facility, BoardEffect® provides top security for your board's data, and 24/7 access for your directors.

You Are Ready

Organizations may not give their board members the tech credit they deserve. If directors are coming to meetings with Blackberries or cell phones on their hips, they can adopt simple e-governance practices.

Board members are ready and waiting for e-governance. Many have already used similar tools in the corporate world and know that e-governance can save reduce headaches, increase accountability, promote transparency, and save time.
